To set or change your password, you will need to access your Mojo account. (See: 02_Access_Your_Account.pdf).

Click on your first name at the extreme right of the top menu bar. (The example screen has John as the first name).

The screenshot shows the 'Your Membership' page of the British Society for the History of Mathematics (BSHM). The page features the BSHM logo, a historical illustration of mathematicians, and a 'Contact Us' section with social media icons and contact details. A 'Memberships' table lists three types of membership with their respective costs and an expiration date. A 'Join Us / Renew' button is prominently displayed.

BSHM is a friendly, welcoming society and is open to all. We are a charity administered solely by volunteers who bring an impressive wealth of experience from academia and industry. BSHM members encompass a variety of people from diverse backgrounds: researchers, teachers, students, historians, mathematicians, scientists, engineers and some with a general interest in cultural history. About a third of our members are based outside the UK, predominantly north America and continental Europe.

Clicking on your first name will have opened your personal menu. This contains the option: “Set or change password”. Click this option to move to the Set Password screen.

You can now specify and confirm your password. Click to finish.
